well, gang. here we are—smack dab in the middle of 1974. and it's been another year of work and play at shs. good times and bad times, all rolled up into a package of memories. relationships were formed and then changed; breaking up and getting back together. being alone is really important, sometimes, though. everyone needs the time to get his head together, to think things out. memories are what helps us make it through the year. remembering the good times is the only way to pass over the bad times. 1973-the year that nostalgia was fun. homecoming '53 found teeny boppers and white socks and "american grafitti" was the movie to see. a return to moonin' and cruising.and duck tails—but only on a dare. memories, made and kept, forever, in a picture.

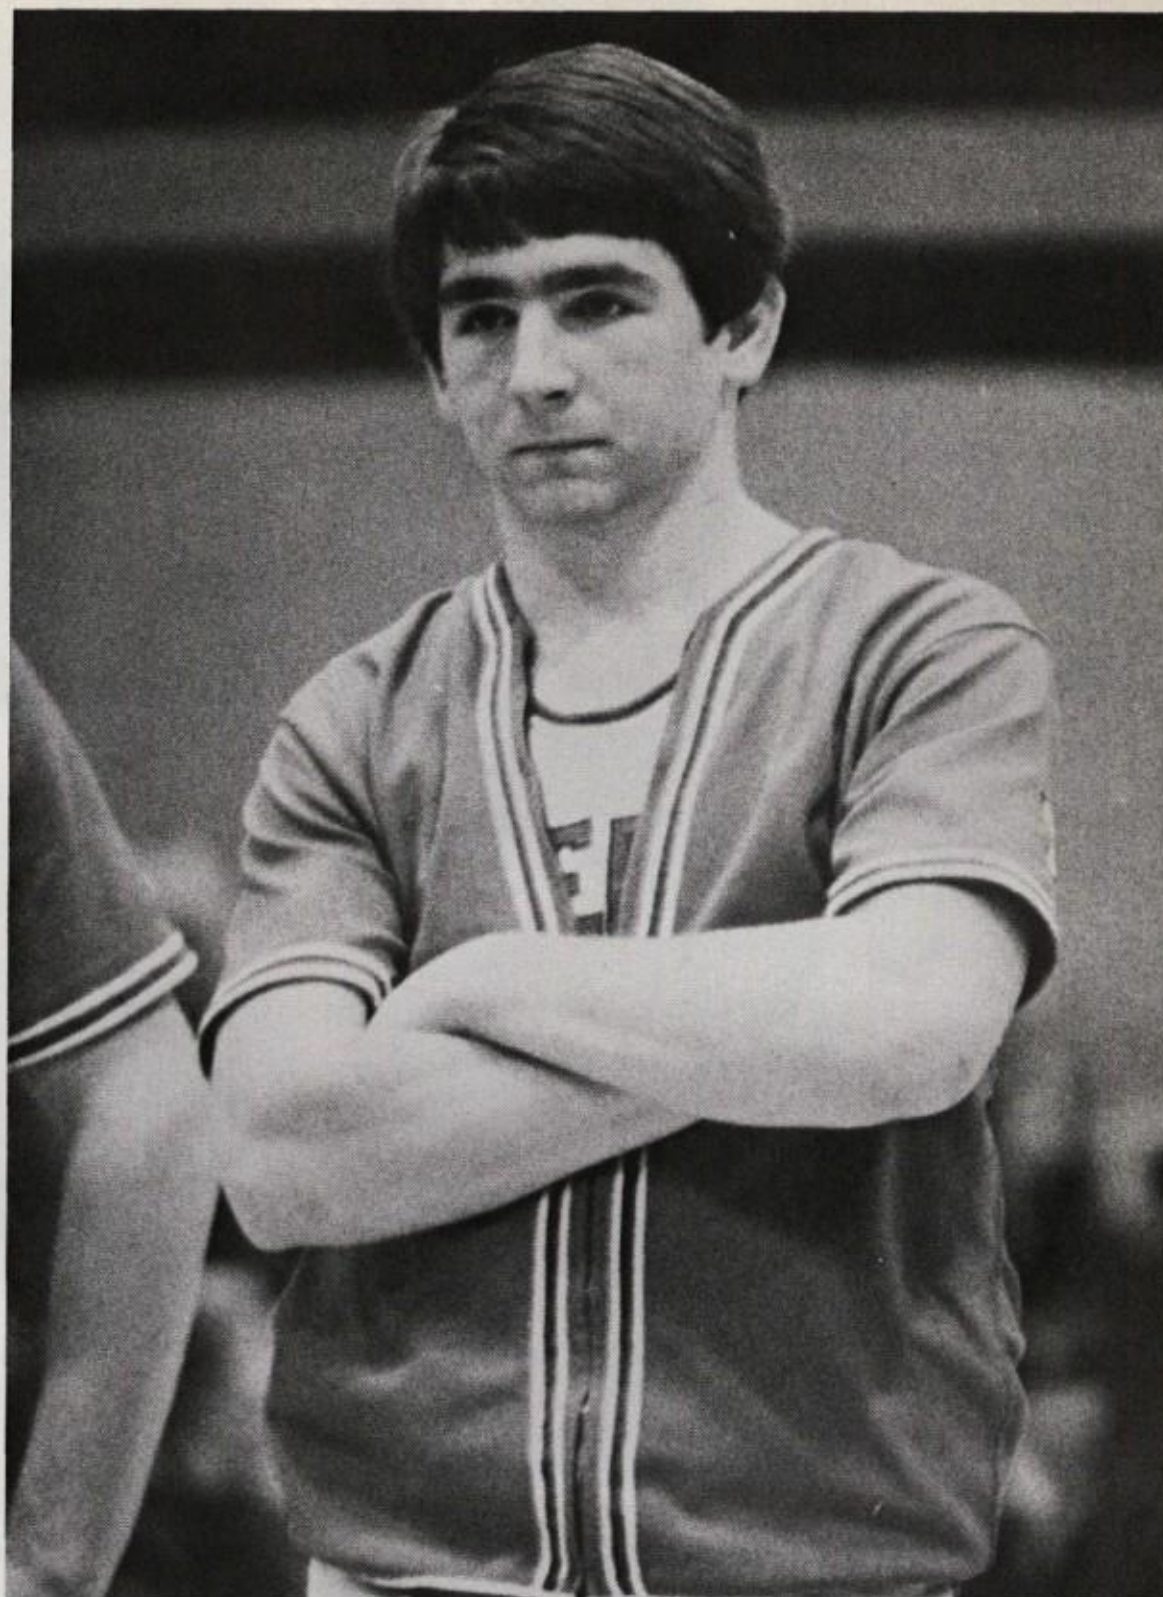

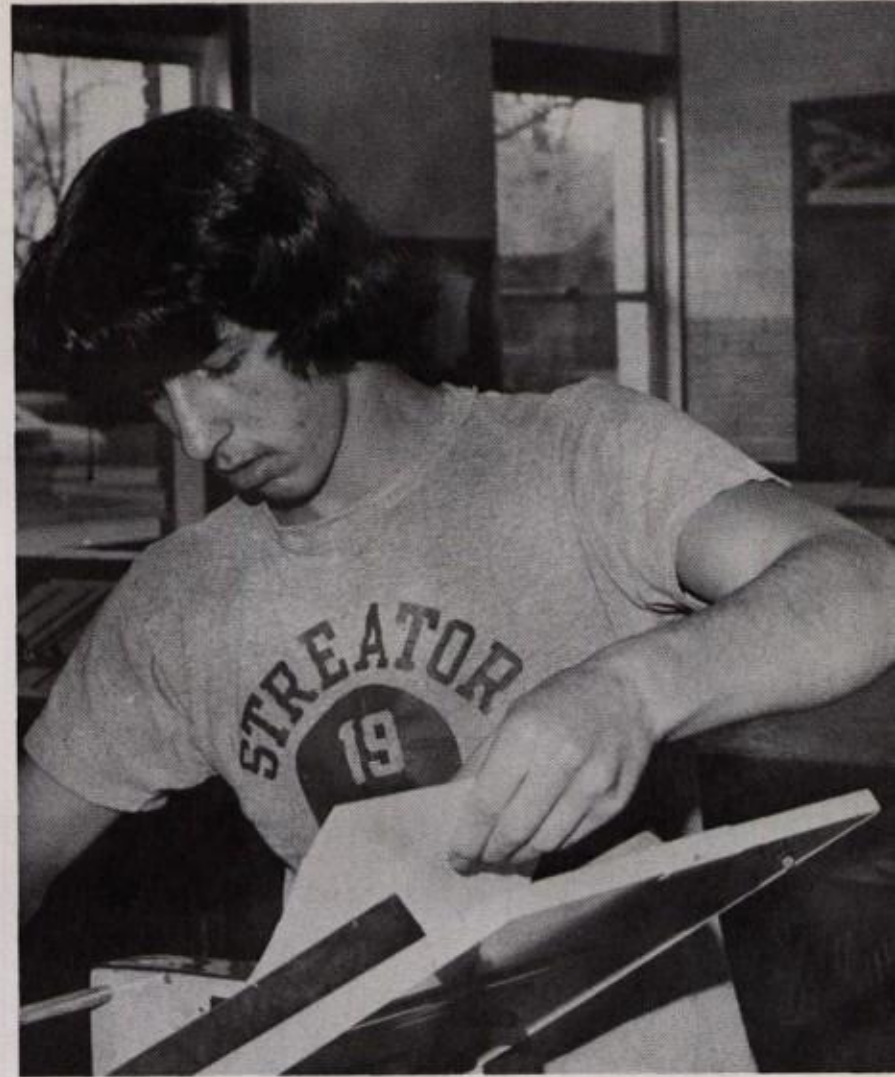

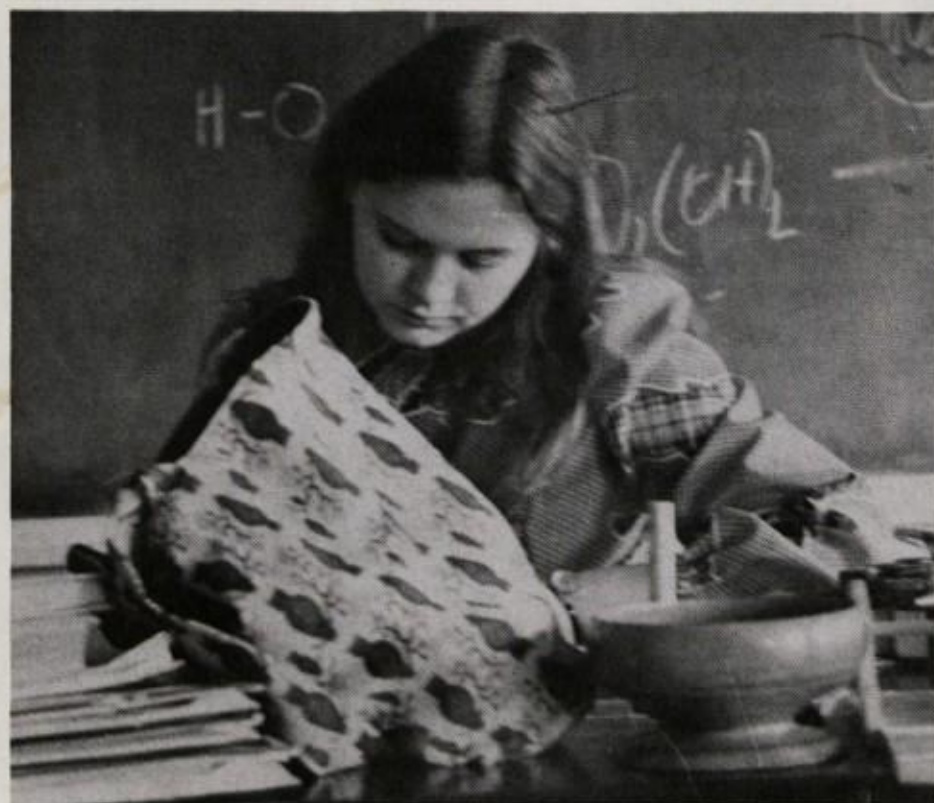

i gotta get to class, i gotta get to my locker, i gotta get home, i gotta get to work, i gotta—hectic lives at shs. everybody's running around, meeting schedules, getting to class on time. it seems a waste. no one stops to look at the people around him. you know, you just might find a friend.

slowing down and taking it easy happens all too little in the frenzy of activity at school. people are rushing so much. but slowing down is really worthwhile once in a while. settling back and taking a look at the world is really great (and a short nap doesn't hurt.) lazy days kind of even out those days when it seems like there's no time any time. maybe we'd all be better off taking it easy more of the time. after all, this is a pretty important time of life, and when it's gone, well, so are we.

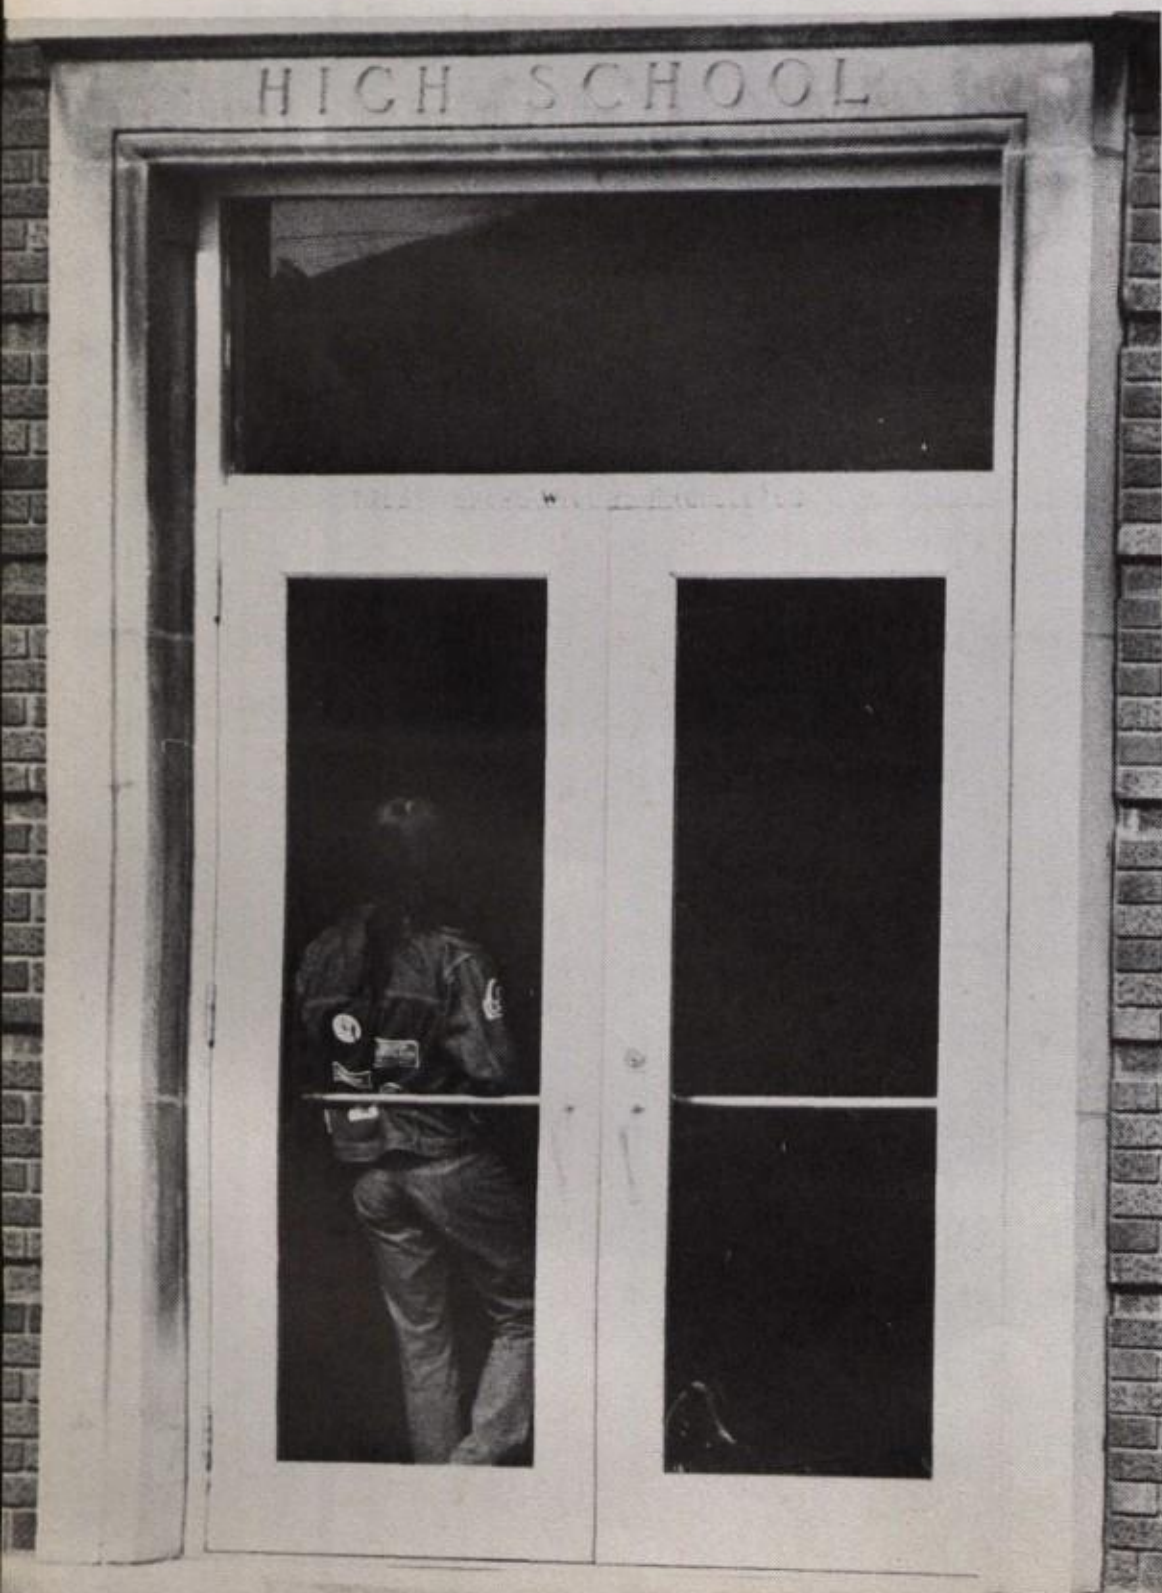

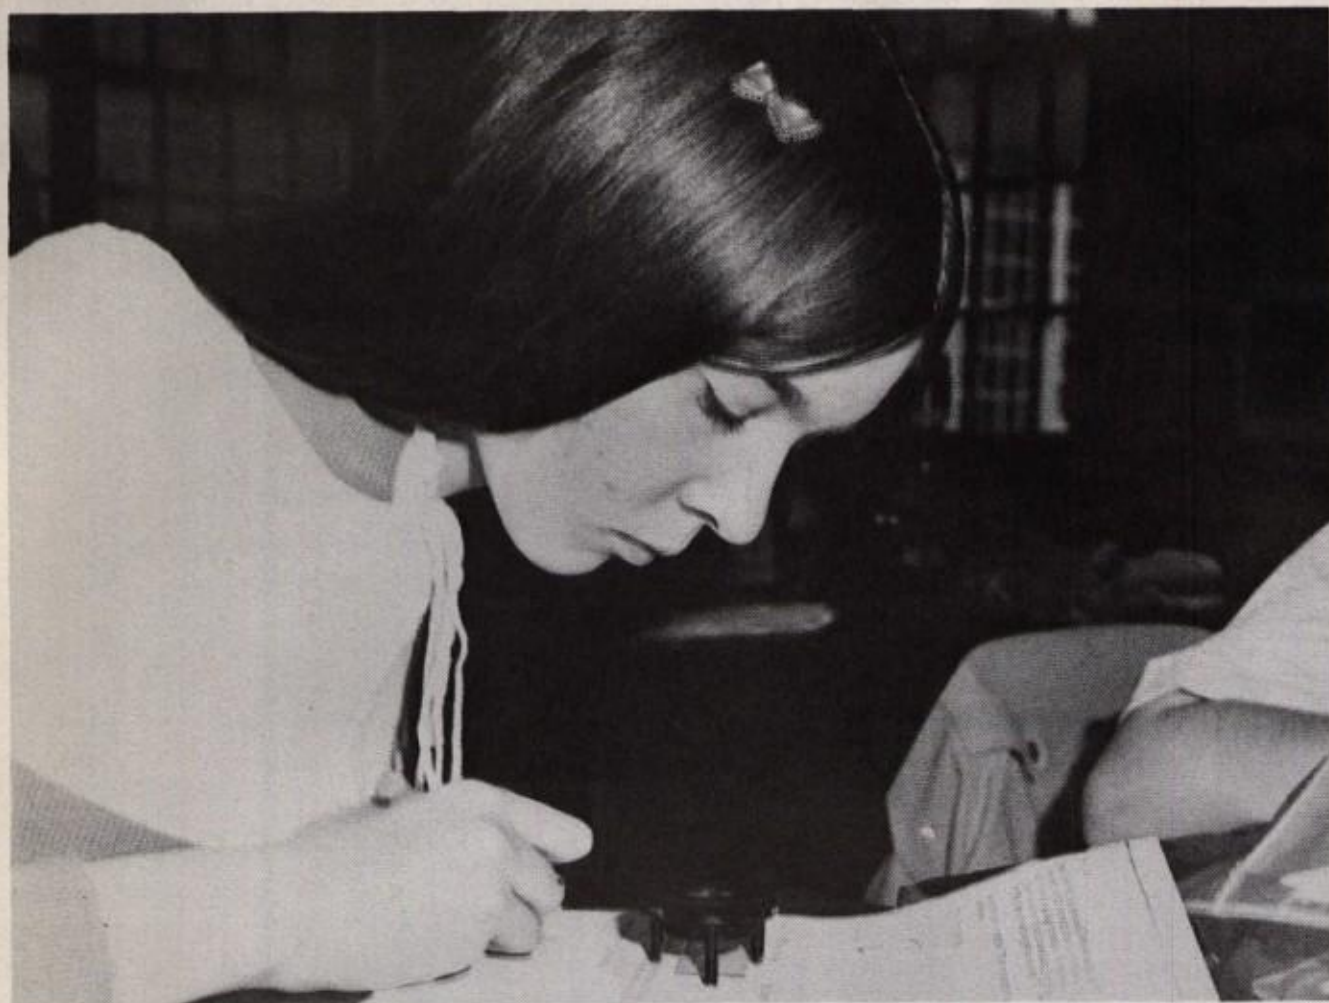

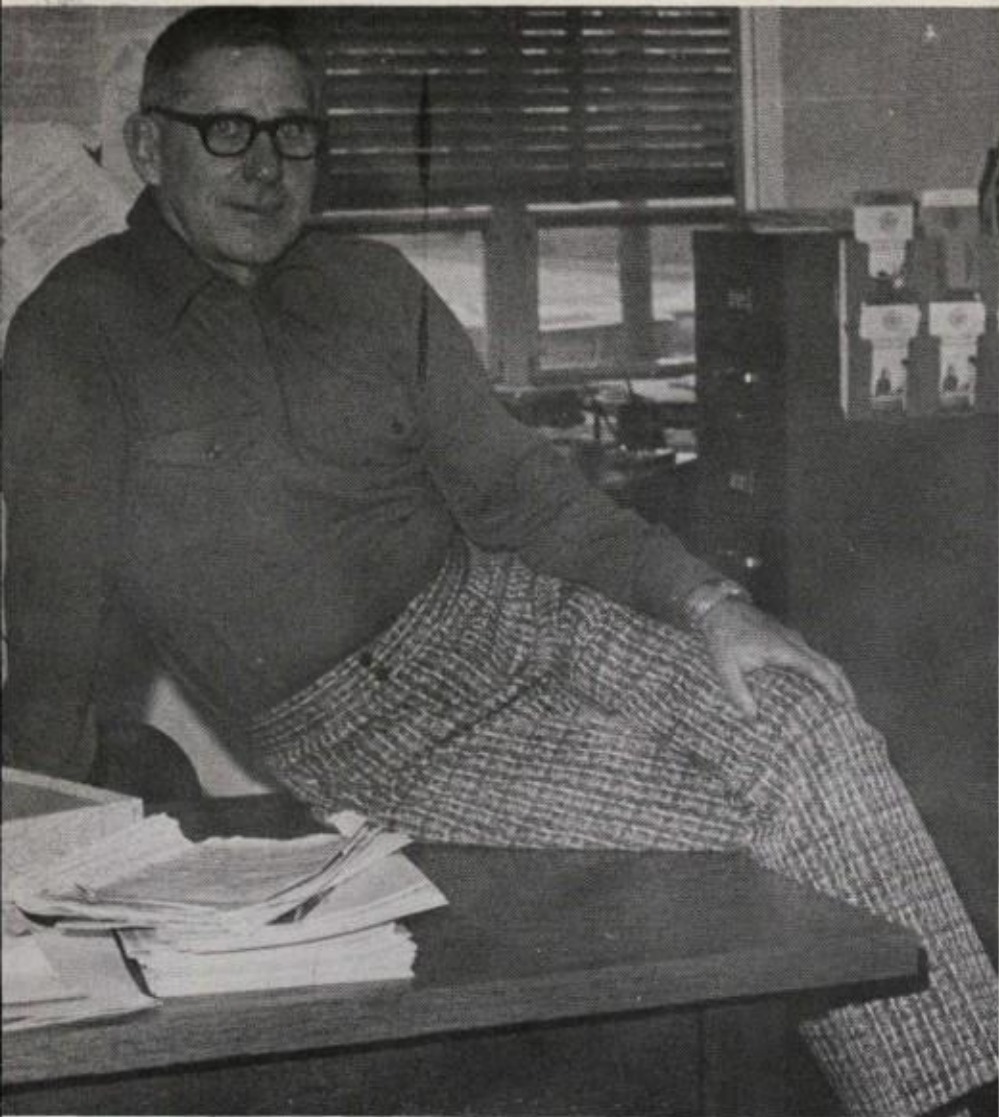

shs smiles—in its crazy times. sitting in the middle of the hall is a great way to find out who's who and what they're doing here. there's the satisfaction of belonging to a club that tries to get things done. you can laugh, kid around, and get to like people more than you'd ever imagined you could. pep rallies are a great way to arouse spirit (even though we almost didn't have any) and spirit helps our bulldogs do their best. there are times when you're SO happy, you just glow.

shs is serious—in its study times. classes can really make you think and question about what the world's like. school turns us from kids to young adults, serious and crazy—it's all part of us at shs.

teachers vs. students—sometimes it seems that way, here are the teachers, and way over yonder are the students, alienated from each other, students have their activities, clubs, and fun times, and teachers have another set of values. until the donkey basketball game. finally got the faculty and kids together in a great night of fun for all. it's really important to get a bond of friendship between the kids and teachers, because it's through them that learning happens. besides, teachers are pretty nifty folks. and they're human too, overall, they're good people to get to know.

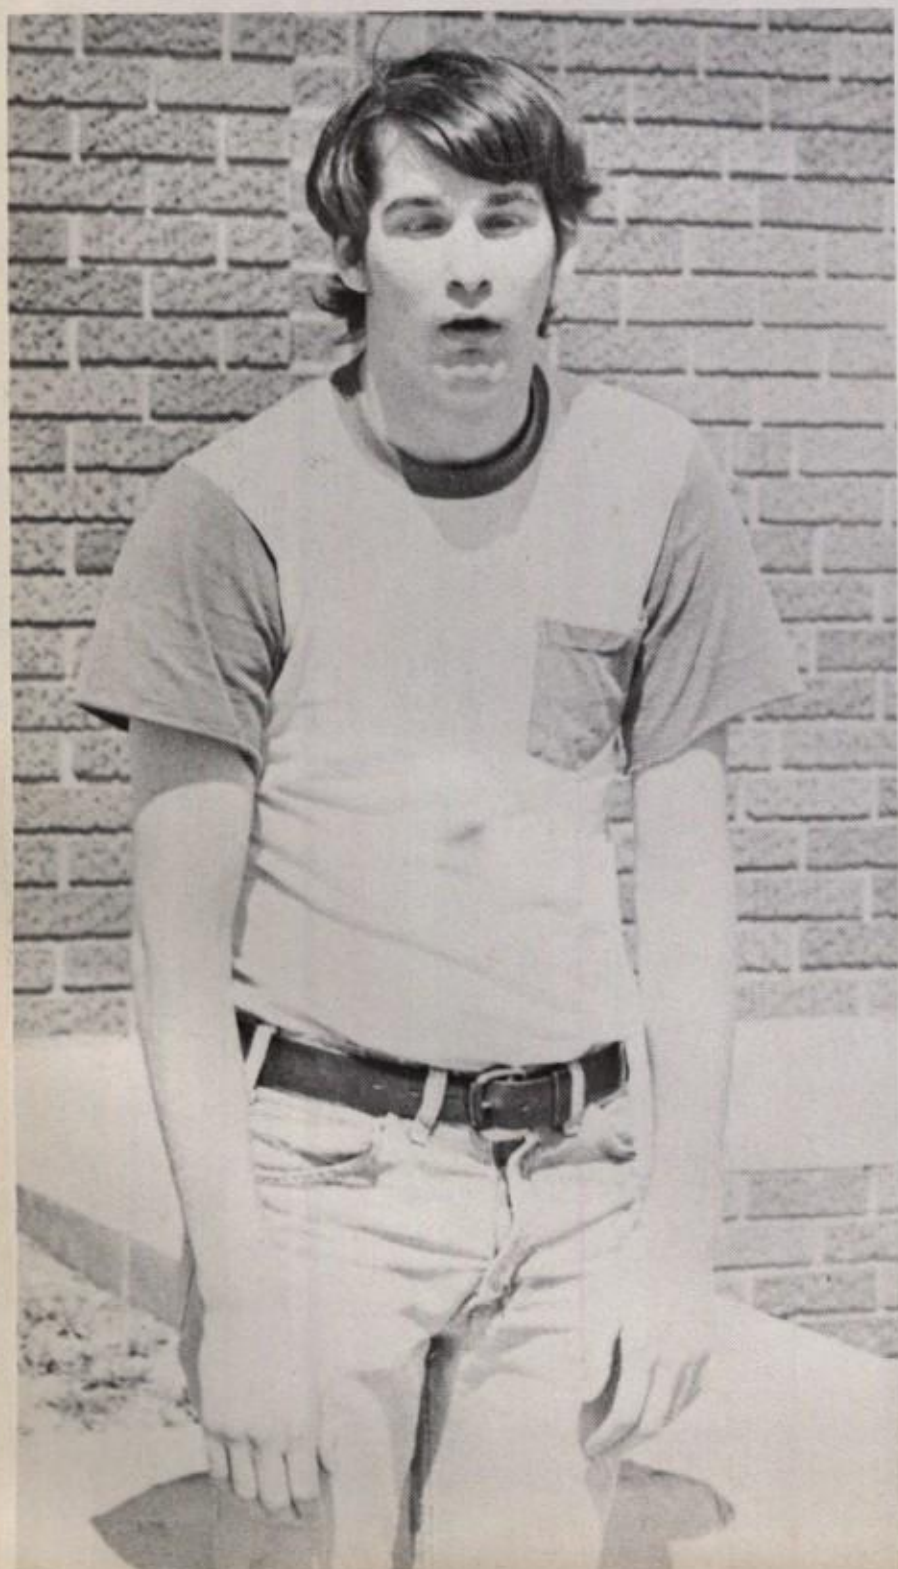

whenever i see a picture of a face, i wonder what that person was really thinking about when he had his picture taken. that'd be really strange, wouldn't it? to be able to see beyond the pasted-on smiles and eyes into the real person. that's impossible, though, a picture is only an image. the person's not there. only a piece of paper, but a picture makes you think. you can imagine what the real person is like. kind of see through the paper, into the human being. it's fun, too, to figure out what people are supposed to be doing and what they might be saying when the picture was taken, pictures always have a story behind them. the people were doing something when their picture was taken, and that's their story, and there are lots of stories here. and they're all real, like people.

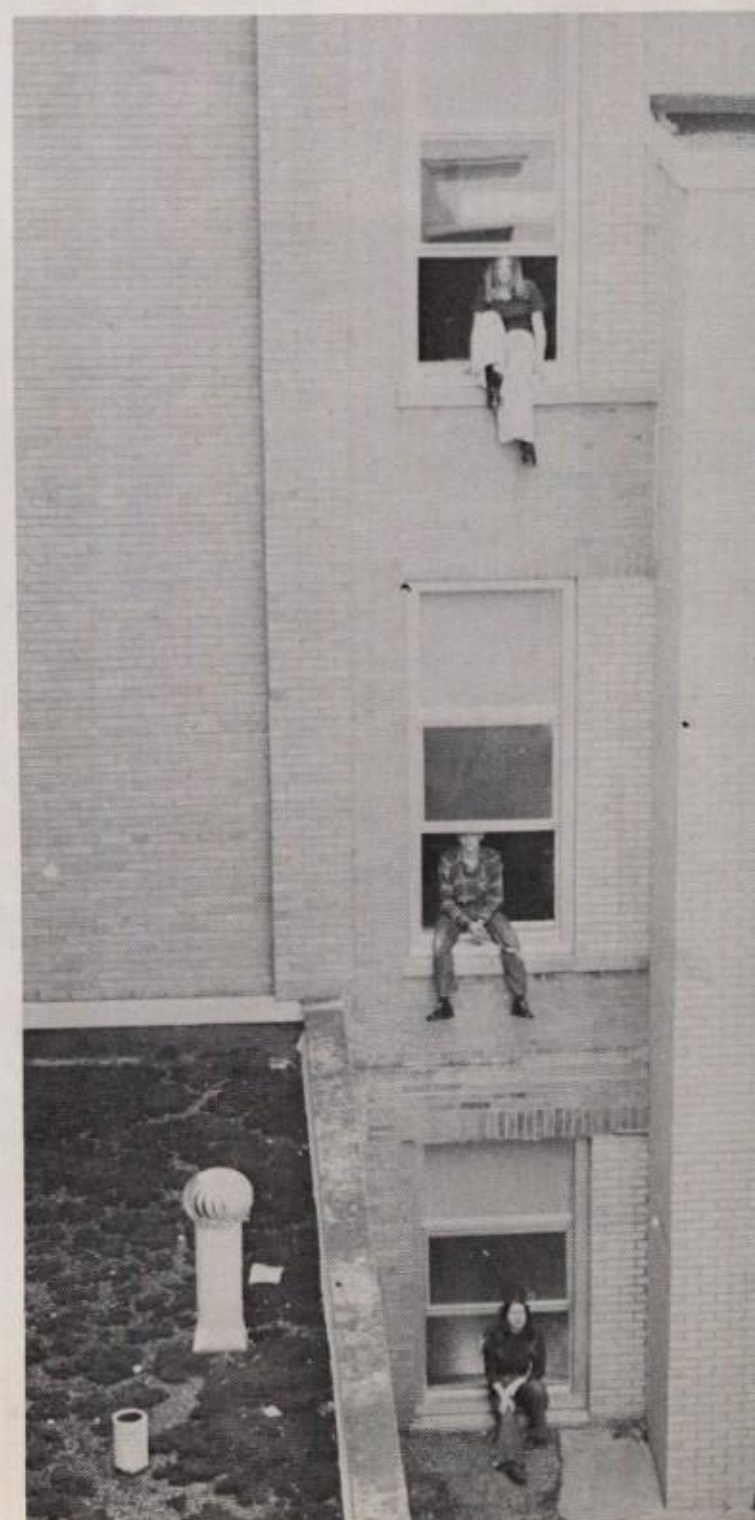

picture me now. my total person. there's the happy me, and the down' n' out me, and the goofy me, and the disgusted me, and the me me! however you picture me, you've caught me in a special time or mood, doing what i like or hate. but it's all a part of my total person. it's me.

shs—a school containing a million stories—and all of them could have a picture to tell it. some pictures are grey but others are bursting with bright, vivid colors full of life and feeling some pictures are sad, full of melancholy and depression, and their stories reflect this feeling. some pictures are crazy, nutty pictures of someone who wanted to be his own person—and do his own thing. some pictures are full of sincerity or laughter or thought. all pictures reflect life at that time at that place. and every picture tells a story—don't it?

ho hum! another boring year at shs begins. filling out those stupid 3 by 5 index cards. teachers sizing up students. students sizing up teachers. trying to figure out who's who. kids wandering down the hall, seeing new faces, bewildered freshman, bored seniors. who are all those new people? then, finally there's a dance to find out. student council sponsors the annual get acquainted hop, a time to get to know the kids—and also a chance to vote on a king & queen. will it be: joe & michelle? dan & janice? dude & marsha? ray & lisa? the votes are counted and the class of '74 reigns for its 3rd straight year. ray and lisa are crowned king & queen. and most everyone's made a new friend. get acquainted hop—making the onslaught of another year a little more bearable.

the reds and the whites—streator's two senior bowl teams. they took third place out of thirty-two teams at the streator invitational—even though there was a controversy about one of the semi-final answers. they avenged themselves later by winning the first place championship trophy at kewanee-weatherfield. all in all, a great year for two hard-working teams with two great coaches—mrs. nancy kerr and mrs. virginia heitz.

six beautiful smiles ride down the street during the parade

if you smile at me,

mr. vandemark and his wife out cruisin'

it was a week of queen campaigning, spirit posters, napkin stuffing, flowers to order, meal reservations, crossed fingers. schoolwork suffered for the sake of a favorite class or club float. endless paper balls, napkins, and chicken wire, turning hard work into hopes. friday was a short day and, at 1:00, students rushed to put finishing touches on their float. a parade showed the efforts on everybody's part and gave a glimpse of the three queen candidates—beth, kathy, and mary, all smiles. that night, at the halftime of a disappointing 0-0 tie to kewanee (well, at least we didn't lose), three big announcements are made—spanish club wins club division, seniors win class division (for the third year in a row), and —kathy hoffmeyer is homecoming queen. katie myers passes on the crown amid smiles and tears.

well, would ya just look at that

HOMECOMING '53

nostalgia hits shs. the annual student council homecoming dance greets us with a return to those days of yore. homecoming '53. boogie and "this is a drag man, let's cruise", the culmination of a week of activities arrives saturday night with the second biggest dance of the year. a soda shoppe for refreshments and keen times from cedar creek fill the air, couples arrive for a great evening of dancing followed by dinner. long dresses and butterfly bows. cuffed, flared slacks and corsages, and an unforgettable evening with a special friend at homecoming '53.

AND RECEIVE THE MOST SUCCESSFUL TURNOUT IN YEARS

helen receives her first lesson in language.

a new season of plays at shs, and the first presentation is "the miracle worker" by william gibson. cast, crews, and play dates are selected, and three months of hard work pass. helen and annie bruise through their fight scenes, and an elaborate set is constructed. as the opening performance draws near, the event is widely and favorably publicized. hopes for a large turnout are high.

opening night finally arrives and almost a thousand people come to see the story of helen keller. reaction to the play is beautiful and the next night six hundred more people attend it. this play reaffirms the positive attitude of the public toward plays in general and gives the thespians brighter hopes toward the future.

FIRST MUSICAL IN FOUR YEARS

anne shows her extreme intelligence to miss brill as her parents look on.

i can't believe my brother. he's reading plato's philosophies on life's changes.

shs produces its first musical in years—cheaper by the dozen, a light, funny play about the laughs and difficulties in raising twelve children. the play itself was not easy to produce. several pianists came and went until louise was found. songs had to be learned and rehearsed, along with the dances and lines. tension and tempers mounted as the show dates approached. yet, somehow, all went over well. the second success for the thespians this year—and hopes for an even brighter future.

mr. gilbreth warns his oldest daughter, anne, that he does not approve of the latest fad—slickers.

a football players format: when in doubt—punt!

TOUGH '73 FOOTBALL SEASON

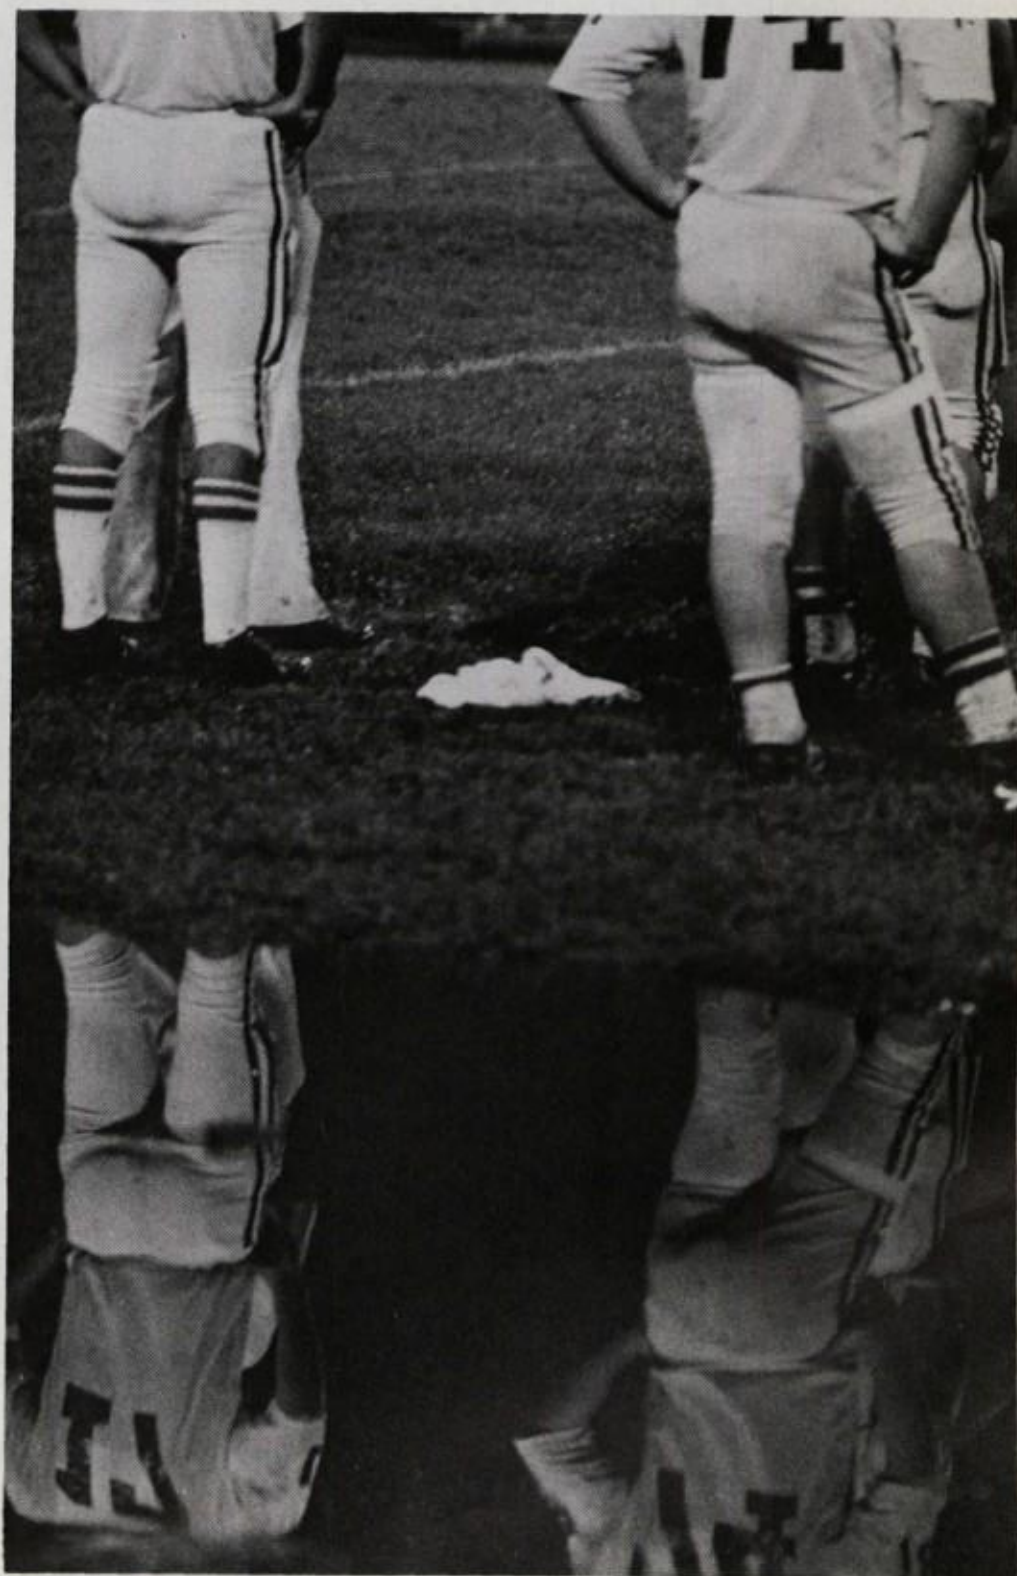

i'm gonna grab that ball and run!! i think . . .

y' know, sometimes when i think about the teams at shs, i think about how they hardly ever do as well as we think they will. so i was sitting here, noting our 1-8-1 football season record, but i ended up thinking that maybe we're even BETTER than everyone says we are. who can forget our upset 18-0 victory over the river rats—and we even played them on their field! or how about homecoming game against kewanee? that sure was at least a moral victory for the bulldogs. even though the score ended up a 0-0 tie, our guys really had to fight their best to hold them to no points at all. let's face it. we've got a really hard working team that puts out a lot of effort to win. go, bulldogs!

basketball—the most popular sport here at shs. no wonder, with our hard working teams. always fighting, trying to get that extra point that could be the difference between winning and losing. this year, we had an abundance of spirit from a primarily junior class team. we lost many really close battles, but we never gave up. next year, with a lot of returning lettermen, we should give some of those teams just what they deserve. go, bulldogs!

oh, geez, do we have to have so many practices—before and after school? i guess so, for a super swim team like ours. coaches mindock and roberts really showed them how a swim team can perform. we've broken practically every record in the books these past two years and swimming is once more a popular spectator sport. a race against the clock and your opponent, trying your hardest to touch that wall first it's a lot of work—and some letdowns—and close defeats—but it's worth it when you've got your whole team backing you—and you know you can't lose.

so now you're a senior. and what does that mean? it means you've fought through four years of teachers, schedules, and homework. there was a "world of disney" prom and 3-year row wins for both get acquainted hop king and queen and homecoming float. it means learning to drive (power) and finally being able to forget curfew (more power). there was skipping for the very first time—without getting caught. the a.c.t., achievement tests, and picking out a college. and growing. and learning. and maturing. quite a lot for four years, huh? THAT'S what it means.

row 1: eileen o'brien, cheri hoffman, nancy washko, patti metz, chuck sherman, paul barickman, mark martin, mary kay adamczyk, debbie fennick, cindy carter, denise chalkey, donna mccormick. row 2: paula hrasch, jamie houser, bill darrow, jim thompson, don falling, kevin bean, paul yeck, carla cuzner, jane emelski, cheri grako, jane shull.

junior year is probably the most important year of all. it's the year when three years of candy, concession stands, fire extinguishers, and donkey basketball games turn into a prom. it means putting your heart and soul into building it into the biggest and best prom ever and being proud of your accomplishments. it's also the year of the a.c.t., the s.a.t., and beginning to look for a college. it's finally becoming an upper classman, whatever that means, and the start of plans for your future life. it's probably the most important year of all—and the most beautiful.

SOPHOMORES ON WHEELS INVADE SHS

well, finally you're not a froshie any more. now, you're a confident sophomore. but some of the charm and uniqueness of being a freshman wears off, too. school becomes more a burden than it was last year—except for the big event—getting a license! wow, main street, here i come! that's about the high point of the year. prom is a whole year away so there's no worry about that, yet. also, going to college is SO far away that you don't even think about it. sophomore year is just a kind of sit back, take it easy sort of year when the confidences of "high school student" take hold and you find yourself coming alive.

and then there was the man who thought that in order to reach true happiness, all that one needed to do was to follow his heart and to dream and to reach for the stars. of course, the society in which he lived knew that he was wrong and it did its best to put the man into his little corner of the world best suited for him. in the end, the society won (as always) and the man lived unhappily ever after.

FRESHMEN DISCOVER LIFE AT SHS

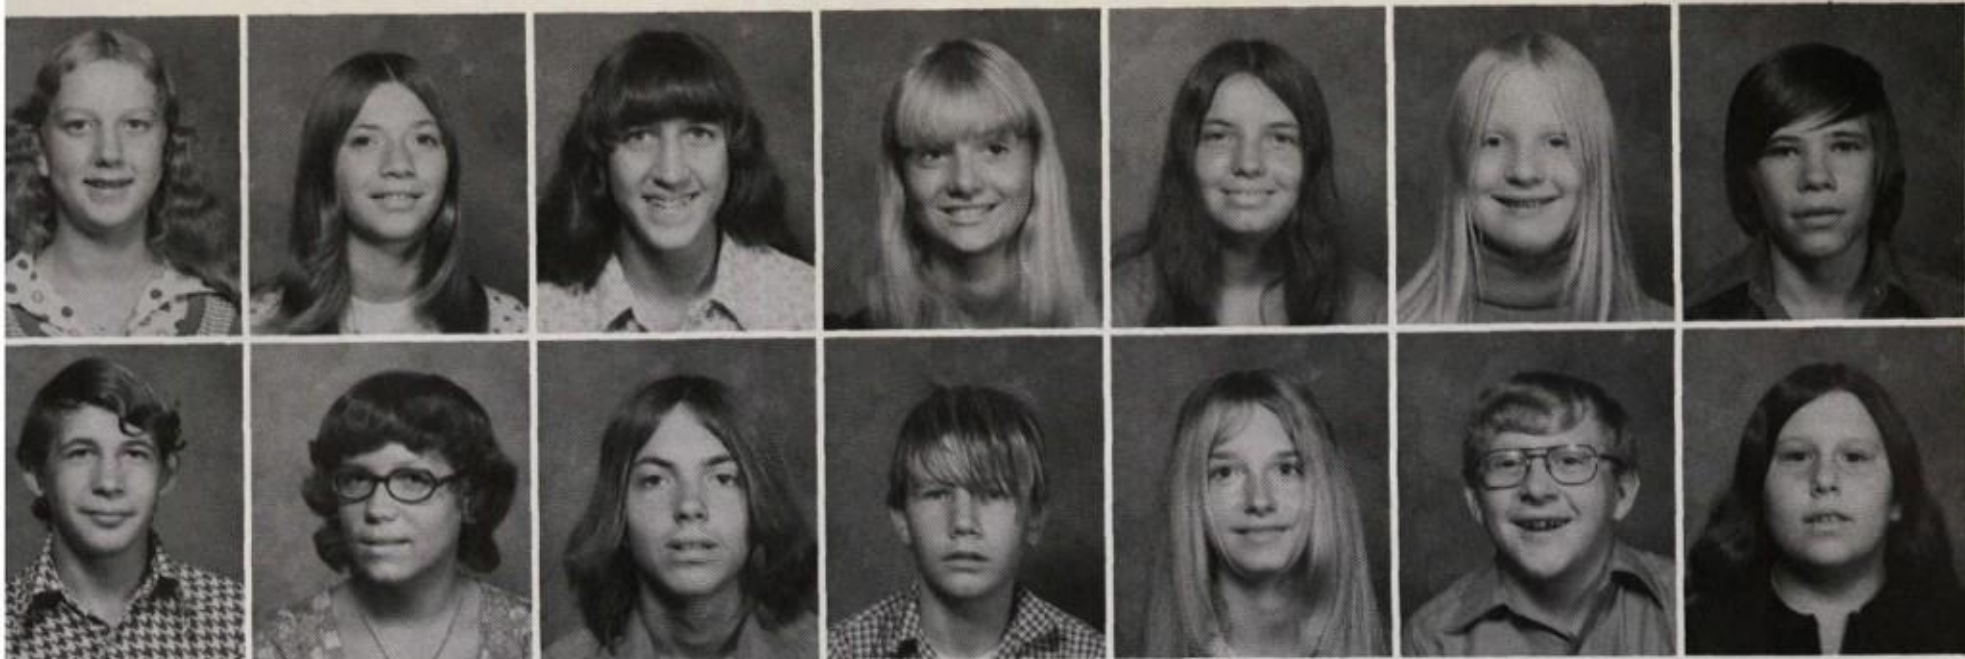

so now you're a big freshman. but that high school is huge, and scary. especially the first couple of weeks. then you figure out routes to classes and the year turns into about the easiest one during high school. the frantic search for a class sponsor and the "silent film festival" start the money making activities leading up to prom. a time of making friends and meeting teachers and the change from grade school kid into high school youth. a year of water fountains and maps to get from class to class. sometimes, it's a year of two left feet, embarrassments, and ten thumbs but, by the end of the year, it becomes the first step toward adulthood.

i was sitting in the classroom trying to look intelligent in case the teacher looked at me.
she was long and she was lean she's a middle-aged dream
and that lady means the whole world
to me.

it's a natural achievement
conquering my homework
with her image, pounding in my brain she's an inspiration for my graduation
and she helps to keep the classroom sane.

oh, teacher, i need you
like a little child
you've got something in you
to drive a schoolboy wild.
oh, teacher i, teacher i, teacher i,
teacher i need you.

We don't make promises.
We make
guarantees.

We have too many good things to offer you to make any up. (They're so good you may think we are making them up.) Read on.

We won't guarantee you anything we can't pay off. (If we guarantee you Hawaii, start waxing your surfboard. You'll need it.)

Everything we guarantee will be put down in writing. In a legal document that you get a copy of. (If you agree to sign for computer training and the Delayed Entry Option, it will all be spelled out in language you can understand.)

We want you to know without a shred of doubt that you'll get everything you signed for. So we'll give you this card. On the front is what you signed for. And on the back is an address to write to in the Pentagon, just in case you didn't get what's on the front.

We think today's Army has a lot to offer you. We'll try to convince you of that. That's our job. But we'll never try to mislead you. That's our job, too.

Your Army Representative

A Salute to SHS Graduates

Effort = Accomplishment

You who are graduating can be proud of this accomplishment resulting from your effort. The faculty and administration can share in this pride because your achievement is a measure of their success.

We in the Streator area join in the appreciation of educational progress your graduation represents. You benefit personally, but so does your community and nation. Indeed, our collective future depends on the dynamic search for truth and understanding that is the heart of education.

Perhaps your future will be here in Streator, a good place to live and grow. But here or elsewhere, may you continue to exert the effort that equals accomplishment.

Matt,

Has been a long and hard, very hard year but has been the best year of my life, so far, but only because it was mostly with you. There are more and better years ahead for us. This freshman year has had its good times and its bad times but everything is straightened out now and soon you will meet my family and everything will be even better for us. I'm glad you love me now and its been fun learning everything you know and I'm sure you have had fun teaching me but now we are sophomores and have different and more things to learn. Sophomore year will be a year without you because you will be with Tom, La Donna, and Michelle but you are still with me always in my mind and in my heart. The days we skipped and went to "our place" I will always remember especially because we got suspended. When June 27 was our first anniversary one whole year with a beautiful person like you and look at everything that has happened (don't tell anyone though) those are our memories to be shared especially because there were a lot of "firsts" for me (but only and always with you) all my love through all the years.

Forever yours,

Nathaniel
(class of '77)

I love you
